About NCTA

The NCTA is a nonprofit organization of testing professionals working in post-secondary institutions, in companies with test-related products and services, and in other professional testing venues. NCTA was organized in 2000 through the merging of several regional associations.

The NCTA currently has more than 2,500 members, representing over 650 post-secondary institutions and more than 50 corporations and certification agencies in the United States, Canada, and across the globe. The organization maintains a comprehensive set of standards for testing centers administering paper and pencil and computer-based examinations, as well as a compilation of useful operational guidelines.
